

WORLD TRADE CENTER®
SEATTLE

NEXT GENERATION SUSTAINABILITY Cutting Edge Practices for Small Business Thursday, March 27, 2014 | 7:30am

Port of Seattle's Century Agenda Breakfast Series

The environmental landscape is complex and ever-changing. Now more than ever, small businesses need accurate, timely information and resources to navigate through the next several years. Come learn about cutting edge information, resources and technologies that allow us to move from reactive to proactive and to the next level of sustainability for our environment.

Join us for an informative panel discussion followed by a Q & A.

You'll Learn About:

- The implications of "Next Generation Sustainability" for small businesses
- Potential threats and opportunities coming from regulatory and compliance issues
- Resources for small businesses from key organizations in our region
- Where we'll be in 10 years as a result of environment and sustainability concerns

Panelists include:

- Paul Meyer, Seaport Environmental and Planning, Port of Seattle
- Charlie Cunniff, Deputy Director, Seattle 2030 District, City of Seattle
- Steve Klein, CEO of Snohomish PUD
- Ryan Dicks, Sustainability Manager of Pierce County

Moderator: David Allen, Executive VP/Principal, McKinstry

This program has been brought to you with assistance from The Capella Group and the World Trade Center Seattle.

Event Details:

$35 WTCSE Members

$45 Non-Members

Breakfast — 7:30am

Program — 8am to 9am

Questions? Contact Michelle Kim:

Mkim@WTCSSeattle.com

To Register:

Click Here

The Port of Seattle's Century Agenda is a 25-year strategy for supporting working families and building a sustainable regional economy through targeted business initiatives and partnerships with public and private sectors. In support of this work, the World Trade Center Seattle invites you to bring your vision of success to the breakfast table. Want to learn more? Visit portseattle.org and search "Century Agenda"